Translation Teaching: From Research to the Classroom Sonia Colina
This new title in the McGraw-Hill Second Language Professional Series contributes to the emerging new discipline of Translation Studies, and, more specifically, to translation pedagogy. As such it connects theory and research to teaching practice through a pedagogical framework that serves as the foundation for teacher education and preparation. While it has as a goal the explanation of relevant theoretical and empirical research, its more encompassing objective is to serve as a handbook for the training of translation teachers. The result is a systematic methodology of translation teaching that replaces the anecdotal approaches that have been dominant in this field.

Jack Nguyen:

As a student exactly feel bored for you to reading. If their teacher asked them to go to the library in order to make summary for some publication, they are complained. Just small students that has reading's spirit or real their interest. They just do what the professor want, like asked to go to the library. They go to generally there but nothing reading critically. Any students feel that reading is not important, boring in addition to can't see colorful pictures on there. Yeah, it is to get complicated. Book is very important for yourself. As we know that on this age, many ways to get whatever we would like. Likewise word says, many ways to reach Chinese's country. Therefore this Translation Teaching: From Research to the Classroom can make you really feel more interested to read.
